Fifty years of Fifty years have passed over a school of God's planting—years of faith in and work for an Ideal. The Ideal was born in the fire and fervor of holiness evangelism, and it embraced the training of young evangelicals as bearers of the Light. The Light must be shed aloft and afar over a world whose visage was Night and whose movement followed no compass. It would carry for Life's pilgrim a noonday vision and an unfailing sense of direction.

Ofttimes the Light was dimmed that radiated from Trevecca Lighthouse. Low ceilings of adversity constricted the outreach of the Ideal that sent forth the Light. But ever and again have clear skies reappeared, and always the Light shines because the Ideal lives.

Where Trevecca Lived

Trevecca, first called the Missionary and Bible Training School, opened its initial sessions in the former Hynes School Building, located in Nashville at Summer Street (now Fifth Avenue) and Jo Johnston Street, in the year 1901. The building was commodious, but time had weakened its ante-bellum walls and made it necessary that the school seek a new location.

In 1905, faculty and students opened classes at 125 Fourth Avenue, North, in a building that had been used by the Pentecostal Publishing (now John T. Benson) Company. The same building housed the Pentecostal Mission where gathered holiness folk from the city and surrounding territory for services that were spirit-filled and evangelistic. At the Fourth Avenue site, the Bible school was expanded to collegiate level and the institution was named Trevecca College.

By 1914, the enrollment had outgrown the facilities, even though the building had been enlarged and an adjoining one purchased for school use. The college was then moved to a beautiful site on Gallatin Road which was the estate of Percy Warner. The Warner home was used as the administration building for the next eighteen years. In the early 1920's a brick dormitory was attached to the building, and an auditorium, with laboratories and classrooms below, was constructed.

The depression of the early 'thirties provided the impetus for a move from Gallatin Road, first to a campus on White's Creek Pike where the college remained two years and then to buildings at First Church of the Nazarene on Woodland Street.

In 1935, the present campus on Murfreesboro Road was occupied and "Nazarene" was inserted into the name. The red brick administration and classroom building had been an exquisite antebellum plantation home. After it burned in 1943 the present Administration Building was constructed on its site. Hardy and McKay halls were then the main housing units for both students and faculty. New buildings erected at this site other than Administration Hall, have been the President's Home (1938), Faculty Apartment House (1940), McClurkan Memorial Hall (1942), and Tidwell Hall (1948). The plant expansion reflects the progress being made in all phases of the college program during recent years.

...AND YOUR LIFE IS HID WITH CHRIST IN GOD.

Colossians 3:3

To each servant of God and humanity who has filled the office of presidency of Trevecca College, we, on this Fiftieth Anniversary, pay tribute. We, the students of 1951, behold with joy and admiration their wisdom and the steadfastness of their faith in Christ!

WORSHIP . . .

An hour in thy courts is better than a thousand—

Every day we work—and every day we worship. And it is the worship that makes our work worthwhile.

To lay aside our lessons, our duties, and our cares for one sacred hour each day, to assemble ourselves together in chapel, to sing together the praises of our Creator, to lift up our hearts in devotion and unload all our worries and fears, to feel our soul's aspiration met by God's revelation, to worship the Lord in the beauty of Holiness—this is the life at Trevecca—this is life abundant and eternal.

I was glad when they said unto me let us go into the house of the Lord.

Ps. 122.1

Alma Mater

On a hill stands old Trevecca
 Lined against the sky,
 Standing proud a Christian College
 As the years go by.
 We will honor and will love her,
 We will stand for right;
 Always carry high her banner,
 Hail to the purple and the white!
 Fellow students let us honor Her,
 May we always be
 Sons and daughters she'll be proud of
 Dear old T. N. C.!

message . . .

The fifty years that Trevecca College has lived seems a long period of time to those who knew it in its beginnings. In fact, it is an old school, even to me, yet I have been living on its campus slightly more than one-half its life-time. If Trevecca lives to be 300 years old those who may write the history will think of our fifty years as being short as compared to the total life of the college.

During this 50th Anniversary celebration I trust that we will have some hopes, ambitions, and dreams about the future of our college. And I trust that we will picture the Trevecca of tomorrow to be great enough and to be wonderful enough to inspire the young people of today to help to make Trevecca the college that will be even greater than our fondest dreams.

Trevecca is larger than Harvard University was when it was 150 years old. Should Trevecca continue to grow in its size relationship to Harvard, it should have 25,000 students 250 years from now. However, growth in Christian influence is more important than growth in numbers. But, those numbers with a growth in Christian influence should be our ambition for Trevecca.

The feeling that Trevecca cannot grow in both size and spiritual strength is not well founded. I believe that God is able to help his people to keep Trevecca College growing both in size and in devotion to Christ of whom it was said that he "increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

DR. A. B. MACKEY

Through his inestimable service to the College and to each individual student, Dr. A. B. Mackey has won the respect and admiration of the students and the faculty of Trevecca. By his kindly, humble spirit and his unprejudiced devotion to truth he has guided us to serious thought and the desire to attain great ideals and better living. How well we will remember his enthusiasm, his versatility, and his logical thinking. It is with sincere appreciation of his service and profound admiration of his zeal for righteousness that the students and faculty dedicate to him this Golden Anniversary issue of the DARDA.

In Tribute to

REV. AND MRS. J. O. McCLURKAN

A splendid architect he was—and Trevecca is his masterpiece. His careful hands were skilled as he laid the foundations and his heart was filled with a vision of the splendid edifice which was to rise above them. We owe a debt of everlasting gratitude to the life and work of our founder, Rev. J. O. McClurkan, who, with deep personal piety and loyalty to truth, gave to Trevecca his "last full measure of devotion."

Mother McClurkan is still with us, and how fortunate we are. Trevecca is her child—and we feel truly she is our mother. Her devotion to our work, her daily prayers for our welfare, and her vision challenge us to go forward.

Yes, together they built and planned. And together we, the students of '51, pledge ourselves to realize more fully the vision they had for us. They brought us up in the way we should go and we shall never depart from it.

The Ministerial Association is an organization composed of those students who are preparing for definite Christian service. Their purpose is to promote a spiritual atmosphere in the college.

Among the activities of the Association during the current year have been the sponsorship of chapel services for one week of each quarter and the promotion of campaigns for the Thanksgiving and Easter missionary offerings.

This association is composed of the students who wish to take part in Christian work. They are engaged weekly in services at the hospitals, jails, workhouses, juvenile court, on the street, and in the homes of those who need spiritual help. It affords experience for those participating, and helps spread the Gospel of Salvation to those in darkness.

The purpose of the Student Wives Association is to develop the spiritual, intellectual, and social life of the wives of Trevecca students. This organization has been in existence for three years and the attendance and interest has been increasing with each year.

The Student Wives are given instructions in the spiritual, intellectual, and social phases of life. Most of these women are wives of "preachers in training." They feel it is a necessity to know how to be both spiritually and socially competent as the wives of ministers.

It is with these ideas in mind that they study Biblical literature and effective soul-winning. Secondly, they learn how to be more efficient home makers and entertainers by study of etiquette and home making.

There are a number of Student Wives who are also enrolled in college work. Their main emphasis in most instances is to become equipped musically to aid their minister husbands.

In the studies guided by Miss Person the women of the Student Wives Association have been helped to more useful lives as well as evenings of enjoyment in the associating and intermingling of ideas with the members of the organization.

The Missionary Prayer Band meets each Friday after chapel for one hour of prayer for the missionaries around the world. The brightest hour of the day on T.N.C. campus is when the students gather for chapel service. The moments of worship together inspire us to live more effective Christian lives.

The ultimate goal of Trevecca College is not just to have young people filled with facts, but that these young people shall make a contribution to the saving of men and women from sin and to helping them into the experience of holiness of life.

COLLEGE CHOIR

The College Choir, composed of forty select voices, is directed by Mrs. Edward K. Hardy. In addition to local appearances the choir toured this year several districts of the school zone. Music presented with the anointing of God's blessing is the desire of the Choir.

C H O R U S

The chorus includes both boys and girls who wish to sing to promote the Kingdom of God. Under the efficient leadership of Mrs. Edward K. Hardy the chorus has been highlighted in a Christmas program and a Spring Music Festival. Many of its members use the knowledge and experience gained in the organization as a stepping-stone toward qualifying for the choir.

The choral societies of Trevecca aim to do more than just to sing well; they endeavor to interpret music in a spirit of worship to God.

CONCERT ORCHESTRA

The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. William H. Howick, has had a successful year. In addition to their annual fall concert they were featured on several other occasions. The orchestra has added much to the music in our chapel services and it has also provided music on a number of occasions for services in the city.

C O N C E R T B A N D

What can give more zest and more impetus to school spirit than the school band! The Trevecca College Band was organized only a year ago, but it has already become an integral part of our campus life.

The programs presented by the organization are always a source of real enjoyment to the listening audience. This year the musicians have been presented on several occasions, the feature performance being a band concert at which time selections were played from several phases of music literature and as additional features various vocal and instrumental solos were presented.

Professor William H. Howick is the capable conductor of this group.

the college. The efficient guidance of the faculty advisor and instructor has inspired many improvements and with even more in mind, TREV-ECHOES is taking its place among renowned college papers as a truly adequate expression of its students' activities and ideas.
